To write a business letter, and to write a familiar one, require as different qualifications as to enter a drawing-room and to knock at one s own street-door. Let us try to point out what these qualifications are. Tact is equally necessary in both, but tact of a different character. In writing to a man of business, brevity becomes literally the soul of wit, and true tact will teach us three things; first, never to waste time in more compliments than are demanded by the common courtesy due from one man to another; secondly, never to say anything that has nothing to do with the subject: and thirdly, always to say all...
