Excerpt: . . . do you know my nom tie plume Job on the Dunghill. Youve seen the name, many times, of course. I am the very party, sir; whereupon I gave him a compendinm of my family history (excluding my father and the Irishman from the relationship), and of my resources, actual and probable. Strange to relate, Williams became perfectly happy on hearing of my poverty! In order to convince him I was telling the truth, I narrated the story of the hamper which he had helped me to carry into the house. In further confirmation, did not he and I fetch the hamper into the parlour, and overhaul its contents And did we not, that night, get additional proof of what was in it, and so on, day by day, until we saw the bottom And, lest I should forget to mention it again, let me here...
